Great photos that tell the story of a journey.By T BlitzThe book is full of stunning images, capturing moments few will ever have the opportunity to experience for themselves. The book documents a great goal and journey, inspiring one to look to one's own back yard or next door for great places to dive, experience and be inspired, versus jumping on a plane and heading off to somewhere else, where ever that may be. Great photos.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. A truly enjoyable read!By Nancy KendrickI saw an article on Jennifer's book on PADI's website. Intrigued, I ordered her book and truly enjoyed living her journey with her. I have been a diver for 12 years, but until recently I didn't think I could have a diving lifestyle where I live, in Houston, Texas. I learned that you have to look and sometimes drive to find local waters suitable for diving. I fell in love with Spring Lake, in San Marcos, Texas and am a volunteer diver there. It's nice to know we have the same love for our local waters! This is a wonderful documentary and I highly recommend it for everyone to enjoy!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. A life changing adventure story!By Nicci H.The writer has turned me from a solid ground land lover to someone who cares deeply for our waters. From her vibrant images, I have gotten a look inside of a world I would never have otherwise seen. Her story has inspired my own desire to explore the world and find beauty in places all across America that I never before thought to look.Jennifer Idol's perseverance and persistence as told in this lively adventure story is a true inspiration and I cannot wait to see what she gets up to next!

Do you long for adventure? Do you wish you could travel? Do you have big dreams? I applied rugged passion and dedication to complete a five-year journey in which I became the first woman to dive all 50 states. An American Immersion relives my journey. It shows what motivated my quest and how I transformed from a successful designer into a conservation artist to help the world around us. I overcame time and financial obstacles to illuminate our underwater resources through vivid photography. In this book, you will: - Find inspiration through curiosity - Discover hidden beauty in U.S. waters - Understand how I constructed my quest - Experience my pursuit of self-exploration leading to unexpected adventure - Learn how I overcame obstacles - Follow a path leading to unexpected outcomes

Big dreams often start with small steps. We can all learn from Jennifer Idol's transformative journey, even if we never get near the water. --Chris Guillebeau, New York Times best-selling author of Born for This and $100 StartupExpeditions are rewarding in both the journey and the destination. Jennifer Idol describes the abundance of diving opportunities in the U.S. while discovering much greater truths about the environment and her passion to protect it for future generations. Her book is a beautiful montage of great images and captivating stories held together with life lessons and personal enlightenment. I highly recommend following her journey and then diving into your own local diving. --Jill Heinerth, Underwater Explorer, IntoThePlanet.comIt is always exciting to see women venturing where few others have gone before. With Jennifer's accomplishment, she expands the status quo, leading other female divers to believe anything is possible with determination, dedication, training, and heart. It is inspiring to see female leaders like Jennifer within the dive industry leading the next generation of women into new territories inside this sport. --Amanda Cotton, Founder and CEO Water Women, Inc.About the AuthorJennifer Idol is the first woman to dive 50 states and author of An American Immersion.
