By stereo buff This book is one of those books that is written as well as the pictures are beautiful. I live in Arizona and purchased this book because it shows through words and pictures how uniquely spectacular the state of Arizona is. Arizona is a big state with so much diversity that I wanted to be able to see it all in one book and then plan my travels accordingly and this book fulfills what I want. I got a like new copy on for only $2.64 plus $3.99 shipping and it is worth many times that. Buy it and you will want to see all of the places in the book as I do. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By William Lane Book arrived in very good condition. The Grand Canyon State celebrates all four seasons and it's always a feast for the eyes. In this book, we have the photographs to prove it! Author Susan Lamb has written a sensitive, authoritative text describing the state's surprisingly wide-ranging seasons across three key geographical regions: the Low Deserts, the Central Highlands, and the Plateau. She also presents an interesting overview of how the seasons and the geography pair up to sustain the flora and fauna that make a trek through the outback unlike that in other parts of the world.

About the Author Susan Lamb came to Northern Arizona in 1983 to serve as the Desert View District ranger-naturalist at Grand Canyon National Park. While at Grand Canyon, Lamb was asked to write a book of essays about several other national parks. That led to a new life as a writer and more than two dozen books about nature, history, and native people of the past and present. Lamb lives in a house in the woods at the edge of Flagstaff with her husband, photographer Tom Bean, where they are chronicling the flowers of the forest throughout the seasons for a long-term book project.
