a book length guide, similar to what Moon or Lonely Planet would put out. This corresponds roughly to what is in the Wikipedia entry plus a few budget accommodations and places to eat. It also talks about the new airport as something that is going to happen. The book was copyrighted as of 2013 so I thought it would be current, but the new airport is in use now. I'm not knocking the quality of the writing, just the fact that it is not book length and there was nothing in the description that indicated how brief it was. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. One of the highest cities in the world (at 2,850 meters above sea level), the breathtaking city of Quito is the capital of Ecuador. The city is known for its natural beauty and has one of the most well preserved historical city centres in Latin America despite experiencing earthquakes in 1797, 1859 and 1917.
